Pine Project

About The Pine Project

The Pine Project is Ontario's leading nature connection organization. We offer year-round nature connection programs for people of all ages in Toronto and the surrounding area. Our programs foster confidence, competence, resilience and a deep relationship with nature. By helping children connect to nature, we inspire them to respect, cherish, and care for the Earth. We are empowering the next generation of environmental stewards, problem solvers, and leaders. Check out our website – pineproject.org – for more information.

We are committed to promoting equity and diversity within our workplace and greater community. We are especially excited to see applications from members of equity-deserving groups, particularly people from racialized backgrounds.

About this role

Pine instructors deliver creative nature-based programs in Toronto's parks and beyond. This position involves working outside with kids aged 4-13 on a regular basis. Getting involved with Pine means becoming part of a community of people learning about the natural world around them. Instructors work to embody our core values of nature, belonging, connection, gratitude, stewardship, and simplicity.

In the words of a past staff member:

"Working at the Pine Project brought about a real turning point in my teaching career...Working alongside awesome mentors, I developed my own wilderness survival skills ... and my experience learning a new way to teach and mentor has been invaluable."

-Previous Staff Member

Key Position Responsibilities

- Assist with the planning and delivery of The Pine Project's nature connection programming;
- Act in the best interest of all participants and staff in attendance
- Demonstrate leadership through fostering positive, healthy relationships with all camp stakeholders, including staff, participants, caregivers and the public
- Attend staff training; familiarize yourself with and abide by all policies and procedures
- Help share Pine's work and impact by contributing to collective communications efforts (e.g., gathering photos, participant quotes, or insights from programs)
- Willingness to continuously learn relevant knowledge and skills

What You Bring

- A passion for learning and growth in the outdoors
- Experience in working with or caring for children of various ages
- Enthusiastic, outgoing, and flexible approach
- Strong communication, time management, and teamwork skills
- Commitment to The Pine Project's mission statement and core values
